Are you involved with land use for conservation or agriculture and looking to upgrade your technical skills? Then our Summer GIS Series Is For You!

GIS lets us visualize, question, analyze, interpret, and understand data to reveal relationships, patterns, and trends. In land use conservation and agriculture, GIS can improve efficiency and provide maps for accurate and detailed natural resource management.

JOIN US for this 3-course series to learn the essentials.

• INTRODUCTION TO GIS & GPS
  JUN 29 & 30, 4:00 – 8:00, 8 HRS

• GIS ANALYSIS IN NATURAL RESOURCE & AGRICULTURAL MANAGEMENT (Instructor approval required)
  JUL 11 & 12, 4:00 – 8:00, 8 HRS

• BASICS OF REMOTE SENSING IN NATURAL RESOURCE & AGRICULTURE MANAGEMENT (Instructor approval required)
  JUL 18 & 19, 4:00 – 8:00, 8 HRS

Location: UH-Maui College
Cost: $189 each 8-hour course (half off with ETF*). Discount is available for the series.